

Electricity Pricing Check List

Most utilities located in the northeastern United States maintained high utility electricity prices to customers in 2009 and plan increases in 2010. It is expected that electricity prices will continue to increase in 2010, 2011, and beyond. Customers can reduce electricity cost by purchasing electricity through a non-regulated supplier and fix the electricity price for as long as five years. The customer can fix the electric price for the term of the contract, which protects the customer from any electricity price increases. In addition to a lower price, the customer will have a predictable price. This means for the term of the contract the customer can accurately budget electricity cost.

Titan Energy can price electricity for one through five year terms. Titan Energy uses the wholesale electricity market and works with credible suppliers such as: Constellation NewEnergy, Gexa Energy, ConEdison Solutions, Integrys, Liberty Power, Hess, Dominion, Direct Energy, RBS Sempra Energy, Suez Energy, and TransCanada Power Marketing Ltd.

Whether a customer is currently purchasing from a regulated utility or from a non-regulated supplier, Titan Energy typically can provide the customer with a more competitive price. For Titan Energy to provide electricity pricing we need the following information:
